

Externally threaded jewelry acts like a file, scraping and tearing delicate healing tissue as it passes through the piercing channel.
A wood rasp is excellent for rough carpentry but makes a highly suspicious tailoring tool.