

True titanium allergies are exceptionally rare compared to common reactions from generic nickel exposure.

He blames the feather while hoarding the dust.