

Steel marketed as surgical contains nickel which triggers an immune system foreign body response.

He prefers his metal without hidden roommates.