

Implant-grade titanium forms a self-healing oxide layer that prevents metal ions from leaching into the body.

The jewelry heals much faster than the client.