

Piercing jewelry must be polished to a smooth finish to prevent lymph fluid from bonding to rough surfaces.

A rough surface deeply offends the sensibilities of fine silk.