

Niobium is a highly biocompatible element with vibrant colours but scratches easily due to its extreme softness.
Sweaters are a known and terrifying hazard to soft metals.