

Pure unalloyed gold is biologically inert but excessively soft and prone to bacterial scratches.

Floating dust is the ultimate enemy of refined metals.