

Commercial-grade titanium lacks the strict elemental purity verified in certified implant materials.
It makes a highly effective and durable bicycle wrench.