

External threading scrapes and tears delicate healing tissue during insertion.
Smooth delivery is heavily dependent on having functioning brakes.