

Plated jewelry eventually wears off and exposes the underlying base metal to the healing wound.
True identity always reveals itself upon any sign of precipitation.