

Batch-specific mill certificates are the only reliable proof of metal chemical composition.
The true treasure was the administrative paperwork all along.