

Plated titanium jewelry possesses a thin surface coating that eventually wears away to expose reactive base metals.

A tragic conclusion to a brief masquerade.