

Leaving freshly sterilized steel jewelry damp degrades the protective passive layer before reaching the client.
A wet towel makes a terrible blanket.