

A mirror-polished finish with a roughness below 0.2 micrometers provides fewer physical anchor points.

The local microbes really let this opportunity slip