

Proper surface passivation removes microscopic particulate matter to leave a mirror-smooth finish.
Perfection is a remarkably slippery slope.