

Rigid metal bars act as levers that transmit physical impact directly to the healing tissue.

He swapped his steel barbell for polymer before entering the trampoline tournament