
Every workstation surface requires impervious physical barriers to completely prevent cross-contamination.

Cling film also blocks awkward small talk.