

This bar catches
on everything.

CRASH!

A short stud
is much safer.

Downsizing to a shorter post after initial swelling subsides prevents excess movement and irritation.
Tripping over your own face ruins a perfectly good solo.