

Threadless jewelry eliminates the risk of stripped threads because the connection relies on friction instead of a screw.
Friction always works when brute force gives up.