External threads on jewelry posts act as microscopic grates that trap organic debris. Breathing is secondary to maintaining a pristine accessory.