
Microbial contamination has been found in sealed unopened tattoo ink bottles originating from the manufacturing process.

The manufacturer includes complimentary familiars inside unopened bottles.