Red tattoo pigments have been associated with photoallergic reactions and lichenoid hypersensitivity.

A truly enlightened master finds practical uses for raised designs.