

Ah, the treasure is right here.

Pigment particles and heavy metals from tattoo inks migrate through the lymphatic system to vital organs. Internal organs rarely appreciate fine body art.