

Claims that tattoo ink formulations are approved by federal health authorities are purely marketing fiction.
A rubber stamp from the craft store does not equal regulatory compliance.