Red and blue pigments are notorious for causing prolonged sensitization and localized swelling.
Spontaneous volumetric expansion is an allergic reaction, not a hidden superpower.