

Unregulated tattoo inks are frequently imported without mandatory quality control or chemical safety oversight.
The finest pigments always fall off the back of smuggling trucks.