

The UK framework restricts nickel above 200 ppm in tattoo and permanent makeup formulations. The exchange rate for trace elements is remarkably precise.