

Handling communication devices or payment systems while wearing contaminated procedure gloves spreads pathogens across the workspace. The telephone receiver has formed a permanent attachment.