

The hepatitis virus possesses extreme environmental resilience and survives on dried ambient surfaces for extended durations. The microscopic stowaway outlived the warranty on the desk.