

Dipping a used needle into a shared ink bottle contaminates the entire supply for future clients.
The ink well is a wretched hive of contamination.