

An exposure control plan must be written down and readily accessible to all staff during their shifts.
A masterclass in permanent over-communication.