

Health regulations mandate strict physical separation between waiting, tattooing, and sterilization zones to prevent cross-contamination.

The drawbridge is stuck again.