

The upcoming regulations require shops to detail their disposal methods for contaminated materials.
Hiding used equipment in the baker's delivery cart is technically a detailed method.