Legal operation now depends on maintaining formally documented protocols for infection control.

Carving your hygiene manifesto into a stone monolith makes filing extremely difficult.