

The government is actively surveying tattoo shops to map the geographic distribution of the legal industry.
The grand map of the legal sector looks suspiciously like a pirate treasure chart.