
Artists must successfully apply for official licensing before the new regulatory act comes into full force.

Finding inner peace is much easier than navigating the online licensing portal.