

Autoclave usage and documentation practices form core components of safety oversight.

Sterilization magic smells suspiciously like blueberry pie.