

Using alignment eyewear during routine high power laser operation provides insufficient protection against direct exposure.

Cocktail accessories offer limited shelter from the storm.