Chemical analyses reveal that many imported tattoo inks claiming regulatory compliance contain banned hazardous substances.

The label is a highly imaginative work of fiction.