

Overcast weather with high ultraviolet penetration but limited visible light can inadvertently cause the tattoo to activate.

Nature always ruins a good brooding session.