

There is currently no alternative award for winners who decline the mandatory tattoo.

Polite requests remain completely ineffective against deeply entrenched subculture traditions.