

Polytetrafluoroethylene exhibits cold flow under sustained load leading to permanent deformation and loosening of threaded connections.

We are going to need a considerably longer wrench.