

Polytetrafluoroethylene cannot be injection-moulded and must be extruded as rod with separately threaded ends that rotate freely in normal wear.

Forward is a matter of perspective.