Rigid metallic bars lack viscoelastic compliance and transfer mechanical stress directly to the surrounding tissue margin.

The leverage is outstanding.