

Viscoelastic polymer jewellery held under constant tissue pressure slowly and permanently stretches out of its intended shape. Elasticity is a temporary privilege.