

Porous silicone elastomers placed in unhealed piercings allow regenerating skin tissue to fuse directly into the jewellery surface. Cohabitation requires stricter boundaries.