

Antimicrobial agents homogeneously mixed into a polymer matrix remain fully active even after repeated high-temperature sterilisation. Boiling your accessories in a volcano is an aggressive cleaning strategy.