

Cleaning a piercing excessively delays the natural healing process and irritates the surrounding tissue.

The war against dirt was lost by friendly fire.