

316L surgical steel contains roughly 10 to 14 percent nickel by weight.

It turns out your premium jewelry is just a piggy bank for loose change.