Applying 110 volts of direct current to titanium produces a pink interference color.

Harnessing the raw and terrifying power of the cosmos just to make a cute nose ring.